Townsend of Michigan Is "Vindicated"

Senator Charles E. Townsend of Michigan (portrait herewith) has been renominated by the Republicans. The primary had features which attracted nation-wide attention. He had as opponents H. F. Baker, radical, Farmer-Labor candidate; Congressman Pat Kelley and John G. Emery, former commander of the American Legion. Each of these opponents made a spe cial appeal, attacking Townsend for his vote to seat Senator Newberry of Michigan, an issue that crowded the others into the background.

The whole country was interested as the Newberry case had figured in several state primaries-if, indeed, it was not the main issue. So the result in Senator Newberry's home state was awaited with interest. Senator Townsend maintained that no money was spent illegally in the Newberry campaigns and defended his vote to seat Newberry.

Townsend carried 56 counties; Baker 22; Kelley 4, and Emery one. Polithe hip. The body was shipped to wrecked just below Mayking, in this ticians therefore claim to see in Townsend's victory a vindication of his

"Cold Feet" Before, Not in the Game

Why is it that Mustapha Kemal' Pasha, dubbed the "flaming torch of Europe," has through his recent military exploits brought about another of those well-known international crises in Europe?

"Ah! Caution," is the answer of Dr. James M. Fitzgerald, expert physiognomist and character analyst of Chicago, after a study of a photograph of the Turk leader. "That sounds contradictory. We don't usually expect whirlwind action in a man dubbed 'cautious.' But extreme caupanying qualities, invariably breeds the most violently desperate action imaginable," explains the doctor.

"Note the extraordinary protubercaution. This means that, when his mind is made up, he acts fearlessly. Thus we see him fighting, coldly, cal culatingly.

"Note the liberal breadth of jaw, the high cheek bones. That's where he gets his courage. We note an unusual width from the base of the skull to the tip of the chin. This shows will and ambition. We see the eyes set far apart, the bulging forehead just above the brows. This denotes keen powers the handsomest school buildings in the of observation, of remembering what he observes. The top of the ears set state and furnished it with modern | well below the upper rim of the eyes. This indicates his destructive propensities.

"His lofty forehead indicates he possesses good generalship. He is able to think, plan, and deliberate before acting. "A well-rounded chin shows his sex love. This quality explains his devotion to his own people, a kind of tribal fidelity."

a capital of $40,000 and a reserve of What Will the "Stormy Petrel" Do Now?

Rear Admiral William S. Sims has just celebrated his sixty-fourth birthday and therefore retired from active duty in the navy and from the presidency of the Naval War college. And now what is he going to say about things? There is a lively curiosity to know. For he's a bluff old sea dog and has long been known as the "stormy petrel of the navy." He's twice been publicly reprimanded for his freedom of speech-once by President Taft for his memorable address in Guildhall, London, in 1911, when he assured British naval officers that in the event of a war between Britain and Germany they could count upon the support of the United States. The admiral again evoked the official displeasure of the Navy department in June of last year, when, in another London speech, he severely criticized American sympathizers of the Irish cause. For these remarks he was criticized by Secretary Denby. The admiral was outspoken in his criticism of ex-Secretary Daniels' administration of the Navy department during the war and of the manner in which naval decorations were bestowed. After the second rebuke Admiral Sims declared that he would refrain from all public discussion regarding naval policies, but intimated that he would have a number of things to say upon his retirement from active service.

If a housekeeper does not wish to visitors were going to leave and pay use just these foods in just these amounts, and wonders how the lists can be altered without interfering with the good proportions, she can consult a table at the back of the bulletin which gives practically all the common food materials divided into the five classes mentioned and which shows the number of hundredcalorie portions per peck, per pound, or per quart as the case may demand. It should, therefore, be an easy matter to make up other lists having the same proportions as the one given above.

Many families will be different from the average family here described, but reference to a table given in the bulletin will make it possible to estimate the number of hundred-calorie portions needed by any group of persons. #### LUXURY OR NECESSITY?

Up until the past few years a great many people have regarded good roads as luxuries—thoroughfares upon which to drive fine turnouts, but with the coming of the motor driveu vehicles en entirely new phase has been put on the road question. Highways now are arteries of commerce, and just as necessary to the life of a community as the arteries of the human body to the life of the individual.

Rail freights have grown to the limit of corporate greed and there was no relief until the advent of the motor truck. In communities that had the foresight to build good roads the truck has demonstrated its ability to haul much cheaper and with more dispatch than the railroads, and communities having good roads are now reaping the benefits. Not only is freights cheaper, but the great benefit that lies in good roads is that the farmer can market his products at will and for much less cost. The motor truck is the farmer's salvation-

Good highways are now a necessity. Ever community that hopes to prosper must have good roads. A good road is today as much a part of the farmer's farm equipment as his plow or mower. He can no more make money on his farm without good roads than he can without proper farming implements. In fact, all the improved machinery he buys for the farm is wasted who was loved by all who knew her. She is survived by a if he has no roads to give him a market.

The above is a good likeness ofour countyman, J. H Stricklin, Republican nominee for Congress, Mr. Stricklin appeals to the voters of Morgan county for their support on account of numerous reasons. He is a Morgan county man and naturally would have the interests of the county more at heart than a man of an other county. He stands for good roads, better schools and county progress. If elected he will be with the majority party and will be able to get things for the county that his opponent could not get. One of his efforts will be to secure more Federal Aid for roads of the mountains, and especially for his own county. He asks his countymen to think the matter over and name a single thing that has ever been done for Morgan county, and then ask themselves if it would not be better to ovte for a man of their own county who lives among them, spends his money among them and contributes to Morgan county enterprises?

Will Morgan county ever receive recognition until she learns to stand by her own people and demand recognition? Vote for John H. Stricklin, your countyman whom you would go to for a favor or an accommodathe above styled cause, I will offer for tion, and get it. Stand for your home county.

$1,441,486 A YEAR'S DISASTER RELIEF COST

Red Cross Aided 145,000 Victims in United States-Losses Total $30,000,000.

Seventy-two disasters, with hundreds reported killed and injured, and more than 145,000 either homeless or requiring assistance, called for emergency relief measures and the expenditure of $1,441,486.36 by the Building, Frankfort, Ky. breaking of dams and torrential rains from their homes. The property loss Hughes and attorney Allie Weaver was estimated at more than $30,-000,000

The year's disasters reported included twenty-six floods, nineteen tornadoés, fifteen fires, four epidemics, two theatre collapses, two shipwrecks (one an airsh!p), and a bridge collapse, mine explosion, railway collision, and a drought. Of the floods in the United States that at San Antonio. Texas, caused the greatest property loss, $6,000,000 and the high mark of fatalities, 100, while the flood in the vicinity of Vicksburg and Natchez, Miss., forced 31,000 persons from their homes.

A National Calamity

In the Red Cross disaster relief records there will probably remain for many years one calamity which touched nearly every state with a sense of horror and of loss. This was the distressing collapse of the root of the Knickerbocker Theatre in Washington, D. C., resulting in nine ty-six deaths and 125 persons injured. Situated in the center of the beautiful Northwest residential section, this motion picture theatre was patronized by many persons of prominence both in the official and civil life of the National Capital, whose family and personal connections radiated out over the entire country. The horror was intensified by a terrific snowstorm which, though it retarded, did not block Red Cross relief.

Airship Crash Finds Aid at Hand The crash and destruction of the U. S. Army's large airship Roma in Virginia last February with the loss of 34 | officers and men and 11 injured was PROGRESSIVE SERIES the first disaster of its kind to call for Red Cross relief in this country. The suddenness of the accident tested the preparedness of the organization and of the Chapter at Hampton, Va., but the response was immediate and relief furnished the survivors, also funds for the expenses of relatives of the dead who came from long distances to claim

In the year's oversea record for aid rendered by the Red Cross are two fires in the Philippines, one in Manila, which destroyed 1,000 homes, with a loss of $1,500,000 and 5,000 persons made homeless, the other at Tonio, which drove 3,000 from their dwellings. In medical relief that was quick and effective the smallpox epidemic in San Domingo, which had a total of 22,000 cases with 225 deaths in a single day, tested the readiness of the Red Cross for action, and the same can be said of the San Domingo hurricane, which killed 12 persons and reduced the homes of 182 persons to wreckage. A flood in San Salvador, with a death toll of 50 and 2.000 refugees, was also effectually handled by the local Chapter of the American Red Cross, Relief Machinery Perfected The year has seen the further perfection of disaster relief administrative measures in every field of American Red Cross activity, and that the work may be carried on to still greater accomplishments the American Red Cross is appealing for widespread renewal of membership during the annual Roll Call, to be conducted this year from Armistice Day (November 11) to, and including, Thanksgiving Day (November 30).

Small Rodents Said to Infest New York's Skyscrapers.

According to Truthful Janitors, They Burrow Into Steel and Concrete, and Establish Homes.

A stenographer on the third floor of a downtown office building recently aroused considerable comment by climbing on top of her desk and waving her arms around in the air and crying loudly for someone to save her. She had seen a mouse. Now, mice do turn up in odd places in New York, everybody knows, remarks the Sun of that city.

It is of recent newspaper record that one came out of the stony walls of the aquarium and fell into the shark tank and another mouse is reported as emerging inside the Statue of Liberty, up near the top, and looking at a party of school teachers and starting a disturbance in which several of the teachers were badly shaken up.

"Mice!" exclaimed the head janitor of a steel and concrete skyscraper. "Is that the first mouse you ever saw round this joint? Listen, I bring five cats to this place so far, and I been on this job just three weeks."

"Yes?" replied the investigator.

"And how have they come out?" "You mean how have they gone out, You never saw cats go out of a place so fast. They takes one look around and blow. When a mouse gets just so competent, you know, a cat doesn't eat him any more-he eats the cat."

Another building was investigated, one of the richest banks on Wall street, a structure of terra cotta, tile and marble and skeleton steel, and from basement to top floor library, the janitor says, it is one grand

That janitor has tried everything. He says he began with traps; but gave them up. Then he turned to professional exterminators. Every week they would come and kill all the mice in the building. Every week. He grew tired of having them around after a while and bought a highpriced cat. He still keeps the cat, but it is more for sentimental reasons than anything else. He likes to have something around to pet.

Still further investigation brought to light an incident which happened on the twenty-eighth floor of a Fortysecond street skyscraper. The woman in charge of a roomful of girl filing clerks looked up to find her force suddenly begin to conduct itself in a way she never approves under any circum-

Island Religious Shrine.

Star island, one of the Isles of Shoals, ten miles off the mainland of New Hampshire, has been dedicated exclusively to religious service for 120 years. On its rocky summit is a small graystone church which was built in the year 1800. This has been used ever since as a place of worship, first by fishermen's mothers, sisters and sweethearts who prayed for the safe return of their loved ones. During the last 26 years it has been a shrine for Unitarians and Congregationalists.

At ten o'clock each night long lines of men and women, carrying small lanterns, wend their way thither and. a churchful at a time, hang their lanterns on the walls, and bow their heads in prayer or raise their voices in appropriate hymns.

Palladium and Platinum. In the investigation of methods for assaying platinum, conducted by the bureau of mines, recent experiments have developed that with certain ores, especially when the quantity of platinum is considerable, nitric acid will not effect a separation of platinum and palladium. A method which has been found to be accurate and to result in a complete separation of these metals is described in Serial 2351, "Separation of palladium and platinum by means of dimethylgloxime" obtainable from the bureau of mines,

Danger in Osculation. When one of the Talmadge girls was in Washington some time ago she was being shown through the senate chamber by a well-known Washingtonian. Seeing a rather handsome little page, she leaned forward and impulsively kissed him. I learned the other day that after the story had reached a certain group of young girlie girls the fortunate youngster has been eagerly sought after by those who would emulate the movie screen star's actions. The lad should remember, however, what kissing did for Captain Hobson of Spanish war fame.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are ex-tensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited to those who are in need of it. A prominent druggist says, "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a cale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr.
Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact,
so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney,
liver and bladder ailments, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism. You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by parcel post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Advertisement.

"Fine, father; but how dae ye get oot? You've forgot the door?" One glance around him showed Sandy that his son was right; but, looking at him kindly, he said: "Oh, but ye've got a grand held on ye, John! Ye'll be an architect yet,
